

The Sundering Spring, 11

Longwalker,

I pray this missive finds you well. News of your mission into the Ardeep has not gone unnoticed.

A company of scouts does follow you, Uncle and if they reach you before this message then I trust we both rejoice to learn the wards in Flosin Manor have been restored. No longer will those of our family be kept away from our ancient homelands.

Isteval's Company has been victorious again, I am only too happy to report. They returned with your sister, Shalendra as well as news of a far ranging plot against Daggerford.

I urge you to return to Daggerford with all haste, I feel a large confrontation in this struggle in our future.

In truth, our kinswoman has a tale that must be heard to believe. Its darkness chills my very soul.

For now, know Shalendra is safe, as is Flosin Manor; all Gnolls, Undead, and Elementals have been chased from its premises by our allies in the Company of Isteral.

Until we meet again, Uncle.

Kelson

D&D Encounters : Scourge of the Sword Coast
Twenty Sided Store 2014